Nashville bank finishes offering

Nashville Bank & Trust has garnered the entire $20 million it had hoped to raise to provide capital for the startup financial institution.

The bank, which is located at 4525 Harding Road, received its state charter in August. A grand opening for the new bank is expected by the end of September.

At last report, more than 500 investors had put up at least the $10,000 for a share in the fledgling institution.

“We certainly hope everyone who wanted to invest got a chance to do so,” Nashville Bank & Trust Chairman Don Thurmond said in a release.

The full-service bank, which provides private banking, wealth management and trust services, is trying to capitalize on wave of recent consolidations in the banking industry to attract customers. CP
